

It is hard to convince the everyday man that a director or higher grade officer doesn't have a conflict of interest in pathing his/her way towards a good job after retirement. These people get their full benefits after retirement on the tax payers' expense and let's be fair, it's time to let those who's been working harder than these GS in the commercial world for less in comparision throughout their careers.